Examination.

- (A) The Ohio department of health shall provide registrants an examination that is practical and objective and meets the requirements of section 4736.09 of the Revised Code.
- (B) The passing score of this examination shall be equivalent to the minimum passing score required by the National Environmental Health Association on the REHS/RS examination.
- (C) Any applicant for examination must be registered as a sanitarian in training or approved by the director as a registered sanitarian applicant based on their education and experience.
- (D) To register for the examination, an applicant must submit their application and fee on forms prescribed by the director. All fees are non-refundable and non-transferable.
- (1) The fee for the online examination shall be three hundred and thirty dollars.
  - (2) Applicants registering for the online examination must submit their registration online.
  - (3) All requests for examination are then transferred to the National Environmental Health Association for processing within forty-five days of receipt.
  - (4) The applicant is responsible for scheduling their examination at the location of their choice once they have received the scheduling code from the National Environmental Health Association.
- (E) Any applicant who fails to achieve a passing score on the examination may submit a new examination application once their official score has been released from the Ohio department of health. There is no formal waiting period for retesting.
